TILLMAN'S PRAISE FOR TAMMANY.

By Indorsing the Democratic Nominees It Has Shown That the Masses in New York City Are Aroused to the Momentous Issues of the Present Campaign.

Trenton, S. C., August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

The action of Tammany Hall in indorsing the Democratic nominees must enthrall all lovers of liberty and justice. It shows that the masses even in New York City are alive to the momentous issues involved in this campaign and that the people cannot longer be held down or dominated by money.

Let the campaign of education so nobly begun by the Journal be pushed in New York and that State will be found in the Democratic column. The battle cry is "Traitors and boodles to the rear." The people must and will control this country, and Tammany can, as in the past, do valiant service. I congratulate the Journal on its victory, for we all feel that this action is largely due to its efforts.

B. R. TILLMAN.

United States Senator from South Carolina.

TAMMANY'S CODEXAMPLE

Buffalo, N. Y., August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

Tammany Hall has done what every country in the State should do—it has helped to drive out the false impression that Democrats are opposed to Bryan and Sewall. It has aided—and the action of county organizations in ratifying the nominations would aid still more—in dissipating the idea leaders who are hostile to the ticket, are conveying, that Mr. Bryan is coming to a State where his own party is not supporting him. Democrats generally are for the ticket, and they ought not to be governed in their course by those who are not for the ticket.

NORMAN E. MACK.

HARRISON SEES VICTORY.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

Tammany's indorsement of Bryan and Sewall means, in my opinion, a Democratic victory in New York by 75,000 majority. I also believe that when Bryan visits New York to attend the ratification ceremonies the Tammany Society will outdo itself in the reception it will give him.

CARTER H. HARRISON, JR.

MADE CHICAGO JOYFUL.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

The indorsement of the ticket by Tammany has caused great rejoicing among Democrats, more especially in the strong Democratic wards where Tammany has always been held in very high esteem. Tammany's action will undoubtedly bring about renewed activity among the workers, though there has been no lack of enthusiasm at any time since the convention. I expect to visit New York to attend the meeting of the National Committee and while there I will surely express my gratification in writing to the members of the Tammany organization.

THOMAS GAHAN.

Senator from Illinois.

CHICAGO WILL FOLLOW.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

The action of Tammany Hall has caused a great amount of satisfaction to the Democrats of Chicago. The county headquarters have been thronged all day, and the first topic favorably discussed was the indorsement of the ticket by Tammany. The Cook County organization will follow Tammany's lead at the meeting to-morrow.

ROBERT E. BURKE.

Secretary of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee.

ACTION MEANS HARMONY.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

Tammany's action was no surprise to me. I have felt all along that it was only a matter of time when Tammany would indorse the Chicago ticket. I am acquainted with the leaders of Tammany, and know that they are Democrats to the core, and that no false leaders could lead them astray from the Democratic fold. Their action will undoubtedly tend to bring about harmony in the party.

THOMAS CUSACK.

Member of the Cook County Central Committee.

GERMANS WITH BRYAN.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

The ratification by Tammany Hall will meet with the approval of a large number of German Democrats in Chicago. It has been said that the German Democrats do not favor the free silver idea, but that is a mistake. I am among them every day, and I am confident that the German Democrats of Chicago are to a man in favor of Bryan, as are also a large number of German Republicans.

EMIL HOECHSTER.

ENCOURAGED BOHEMIANS.

Chicago, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

The action of Tammany Hall will enable me and my fellow Bohemians to work with even greater energy for Bryan and Alford. Some of my weak-kneed friends were afraid Tammany would bolt the ticket. There are 50,000 Bohemians here in Chicago, and we fully expect two-thirds of them at least to support Bryan and the Chicago platform.

WILLIAM LOEFLER.

GAME FORTH NOBLY.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal:

Tammany has come forth nobly. The action taken yesterday amply confirmed my belief in the loyalty of the greatest Democratic organization in the country. I expect Tammany's course to have a splendid effect on all parts of the United States.

E. A. NOONAN, Ex-Mayor of St. Louis.

TAMMANY'S DUTY DONE.

St. Louis, August 1.

W. R. Hearst, New York Journal: I feel very much gratified at the action of Tammany. As the South and West supported Mr. Cleveland loyally as the nominee of the Democratic party, I think it but proper and just that New York should support the nominees of the Chicago Convention.

JEROME HILL.

Ex-President of the St. Louis Cotton Exchange.

WILL PROMOTE HARMONY.

St. Louis, August 1.

To W. R. Hearst, New York Journal: The action of Tammany Hall is highly commendable, and will promote harmony in the Democratic party. It should be approved by all who desire the election of Bryan.

POPULISTS OFFER A DEAL TO BRYAN.

Williams's Scheme to Test Strength of Sewall and Watson.

Both to Stay in the Field and the Favorite to Get All the Votes.

Bryan Has Not Received the Plan and Refers Inquirers to His Saturday Statement.

HE WILL PASS THROUGH CANTON.

Senator Stewart Angry Challenges Senator Thurston to Prove That Bryan Has Been in the Pay of the Silver Men.

Vincennes, Ind., Aug. 1.—Samuel W. Williams, of this city, has prepared and forwarded to William J. Bryan a draft of an agreement to be submitted to the Populist and Democratic Conference Committees which seems to throw much light on the inside workings and undertakings of the St. Louis Convention.

Mr. Williams was the originator of the idea of nominating the Vice-President first. He was chairman of the sub-committee of the Populist National Convention, which was selected to formulate the order of business of the convention. The "Middle-of-the-Road" element's scheme seems to contradict the popular action that the Populists desire Sewall's removal from the Democratic ticket. The text of the agreement is as follows:

"Memorandum of agreement between the People's party and the Democratic party, made on behalf of said parties by the respective National Committees, and to be in force and effect in such States as it may be by their State Committees be ratified and approved. This agreement relates to the selection of Presidential Electors in the several States where this agreement is in force, and to the making of official ballots in said States and the casting of the votes in the Electoral College of the Bryan Electors elected in States.

TICKET FOR EACH PARTY. "It is understood that William J. Bryan is the People's party nominee for President and Thomas Watson is the People's party nominee for Vice-President. It is understood that said William J. Bryan is the Democratic nominee for President and Arthur Sewall is the Democratic nominee for Vice-President. It is agreed that in each State bound by this contract each of said political parties shall have its own full national ticket in the column under its own party emblem and its full list of candidates for Presidential electors.

"The same names of candidates shall be on each and both of said columns. In each of said States each party shall select as nearly as possible one-half the number of said candidates for elector. That is to say, in each State the Democrats shall select one candidate for elector-at-large and the People's party shall select one candidate for elector-at-large. In the Congressional districts with even number the People's party shall select the candidate for elector, and in the odd numbered districts the Democrats shall select the candidate for elector.

ALL TO VOTE FOR BRYAN. "The official ballot for the People's party column shall be headed by the name of Bryan and Watson, and the Democratic column by the names of Bryan and Sewall. The intent of this is to give the individual voters of each of said parties an opportunity to vote his own party ticket and to make a selection as between Watson and Sewall for Vice-President.

"It is understood that all the said electors elected in the college vote for William J. Bryan for President. It is understood that after the election and prior to the State meeting of the electors a special committee of four, composed of two Populists and two Democrats, shall ascertain and determine from the official returns the total popular vote cast for said elected electors under the Bryan and Sewall column respectively, and as between Watson and Sewall. The one having received the highest and largest vote shall receive in the college the entire vote of all the Bryan electors elected as aforesaid."

BRYAN SILENT ON FUSION. The Democratic Candidate Has Received No Plan from Populist.

Lincoln, Neb., August 1.—Mr. Bryan says he has not received any fusion plan from Populist Williams, and refuses to discuss the subject of fusion, referring all inquiries to his statement of last Saturday.

At the end of to-day Mr. Bryan said: "The only important visit I received to-day was from Daniel Flannagan, of Kenton, Ohio, editor of the Kenton Democrat and member of the Ohio State Committee. He brought encouraging news from Ohio, and we had a long talk over the situation. I am thoroughly contented with the prospects. I have every reason to believe, not only from what Mr. Flannagan told me, but from other sources as well, that the silver sentiment is becoming very strong in Ohio."

Mr. Bryan is confident that he will be elected by a majority that will establish every political calculator. On his way to New York he will probably make fifteen or twenty short speeches, mostly from the platform of his train. He will pass through the town of Canton.

STEWART WANTS PROOF. He Challenges Senator Thurston to Show that Bryan Was in the Pay of Silver Men.

Washington, August 1.—The statement made by Senator John M. Thurston in his speech at Madison, Wis., last night, that William J. Bryan, the Democratic nominee for President, had been for years in the employ of the silver bonanza combine, caused a flutter in both the Democratic and Republican headquarters in Washington to-day. Senator Stewart, of Nevada, was particularly enraged. When he read the repeating papers containing the statement he exclaimed:

"It is a lie. I know it to be false and I believe that Senator Thurston knew it was false when he uttered it. He must produce the proof. Coming from such authority the slander must be answered."

Tray Stewart thereupon sat down to his desk and dictated an open letter to Senator Thurston. After quoting the charge made by Thurston, he said:

"If you are correctly reported you have grossly misrepresented the facts. There is no silver bonanza organization nor any other organization of silver mine owners contributing money to the cause of silver. And if there has been any one employed to make speeches for silver, I am totally ignorant of the fact. I do not believe it is true, and do not believe you can name a man who has been so employed. If you know the facts, give us names."

"But the gravity of your statement is that Mr. Bryan has been employed by silver mine owners to advocate in speeches the cause of silver. I have every reason to believe that this charge is absolutely false and a gross slander, and I call upon you to substantiate the proof or withdraw it at once."

"The commercial press has falsely declared that the silver movement was sustained by silver barons and by large contributions of money from silver mine owners. It may be that your information is from that source, and that you have no other, but that kind of proof will not do. The charge is false, and you have made it on your own responsibility, and the country will not be satisfied without clear proof or a withdrawal of the slander. You may mock at the poverty of the silverites, as the gold press is in the habit of doing, but you shall not slander them with impunity. I await your reply, and, in the meantime, have given a copy of this letter to the press."

SENT A BOGUS BRYAN SPEECH. Chicago Paper Was Badly Fooled by "Old-Time Democrat."

Chicago, August 1.—A letter appeared in the Tribune this morning, signed "Old-Time Democrat," and calling attention to certain alleged anachronisms in the speech which were attributed to William J. Bryan.

The writer explained that the speech was made by Bryan at Nebraska City shortly after the Supreme Court had decided that Debs and his associates could not disregard with impunity the injunction of a Federal Court. The date, however, was not given.

It now transpires that the speech was never made by Bryan, but is a portion of the famous speech delivered by Charles Sumner in denunciation of the Fugitive Slave law.

HENRY GEORGE FOR BRYAN. Says He Will Vote for Him With Greater Satisfaction Than He Has Felt Since He Voted for Lincoln.

A mass-meeting will be held under the auspices of the New York Young Men's Silver Club in Central Hall, at Nos. 147 and 149 West Thirty-second street, next Friday night, to approve the action of the Chicago Convention. Speeches will be made by J. A. McKnight, Gustavus Myers, William Ellis and J. W. Hughes. It was expected that Henry George would be present, but he sent a letter to the president of the club, in which, after announcing that other duties would prevent his attending, he said:

"You are right in believing me to desire the election of Bryan. As to this I have no doubt or hesitation. I shall vote for him, not because he is the regular Democratic nominee, nor because I hold his views on the currency question, but because in the choice now offered us he clearly represents the Jeffersonian principle—that principle of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, which is to my mind the only thing worth struggling for in our politics, and the only thing by which and through which the American Republic can be preserved in the dangers that now menace it—all other conditions are small to me beside this. And from what I know and have heard of the man, I shall vote for Bryan with greater satisfaction and firmer confidence than I have ever for any Presidential candidate since Abraham Lincoln."

"W. J. BRYAN ASSOCIATION." Organized on the West Side and Promises a Rousing Meeting Every Thursday.

The William J. Bryan Democratic Association, of the Twenty-third Assembly District, has organized for the campaign and will have headquarters at No. 2501 Eighth avenue.

The following are the charter members: William H. Bolan, president; James Byrnes, vice-president; Patrick J. Plunkett, John Walsh, secretaries; John McGuinness, treasurer; John Dally, sergeant-at-arms; Eugene A. Wise, George Webber, Richard A. Farrell, John Gaudy, William Rockford, James J. Casey, Nicholas Carroll, Thomas Purcell, Michael J. Poverly, David Flanagan, George W. Tracy, P. J. Nolan, C. M. Monnell, Hugh Colander, John Kennedy, C. W. Wendley, P. J. Kennedy, Albert E. Gones and Charles Brooks.

The club will hold meetings every Thursday night and all voters desiring the success of the Democratic candidates are invited to join.

W. Bourke Cockran Landing from the Paris.

The ex-congressman declared repeatedly that he was out of politics, and refused to even express an opinion on the present political situation. He was much astonished at Whitney's sound money Democratic movement, and was quite anxious to learn what action Senator Hill had taken in regard to the Chicago ticket. He said that he had not seen Richard Croker while in London, and knew absolutely nothing of that gentleman's proposed movements.

anti-Platt movement, and had, after hearing the side of the story, decided that the proper thing to do was to make terms with Mr. Platt and recognize the regular Republican organization as the one through which to do business.

It was also said that while Milholland, the McKinley League and kindred associations organized in opposition to the regular Republican machine would accept Mr. Hanna's decision in the matter, they would, however, continue to exist as independent Republican organizations and would hold meetings of their own. It was further claimed that the anti-Platt people would not be forced to humiliate themselves by asking official aid of the State machine, but would be able to co-operate directly with the National Committee, and that while Mr. Hanna did not propose to recognize any factional fights he proposed to support any and all Republican organizations, regular or otherwise, in their desire to overthrow things up for McKinley.

The Milhollandites, however, feel that they have been badly treated: The recognition of the Platt machine as the real thing has hurt their feelings very much. Mr. Hanna left last night to spend Sunday with his sister at Englewood.

It was said yesterday that at the first meeting of the Executive Committee Mr. Hanna had urged Senator Quay, of Pennsylvania, to assume chair of the New York headquarters, but the latter had refused to do so on the ground of ill health.

The real reason of the Senator's refusal, it was said, was that he was not in sympathy with the McKinley machine, and that he was in the light simply as a Republican.

SCOTT'S PRESIDENT MAKERS. Members of the State Democracy Notified Just Whom He Has Selected.

The leading members of the New York State Democracy yesterday received the following notification:

Dear Sir—You are hereby notified that, pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Executive Committee of the New York State Democracy on July 15 last, the following gentlemen have been appointed by Hon. Francis M. Scott, vice-chairman, and the following gentlemen have been appointed by the Executive Committee of the State Democracy to represent the State Democracy at the National Convention to be held at St. Louis, Mo., on August 12, 1896.

William L. Turner, Robert G. Morgan, John Fennel, Thomas F. Keating, George Watson, Green and Edward McGee, respectively, and HENRY H. SHEPHERD, Secretary.

The members of the County Democracy were elected yesterday at the interview given on by their former leader, ex-Mayor William R. Grace, upon the eve of his departure for Europe, in which he spoke in favor of a third ticket.

WILL THE BOLTERS RESIGN? Essex County, N. J., Democratic Committee Is Loyal to the Ticket.

Colonel Edmund L. Price, chairman of the Essex County Democratic Committee, in Newark, has sent a circular to the dozen or so bolting members, headed by H. O. Hart, a New York banker. This circular is signed by J. Randolph Woodruff, secretary of the committee. It is rumored that Colonel Price has called upon the bolters to resign, and that in so doing he has the support of State Senator James Smith, who is now in Carlsbad, Germany.

The plain Democrats of the county are loyal to the ticket, and Colonel Price has issued an open letter advising the formation of Bryan and Sewall clubs in election districts, which shall be open to any voter, regardless of what his political faith has been in former years.

the swamps surrounding Snake Hill, where are all the county institutions. Warden Ryan turned out about fifty boys from the almshouse to recapture her. After they had plodded through the swamps for over three hours her hiding place was discovered. Sarah gave the fifty boys a hard fight before she was finally dragged from her shelter among the tall swamp grass. She kicked and scratched as her captors carried her back to the Warden's office, but was finally placed, covered with mud, her clothes torn and without shoes, in her old prison.

When asked by the Warden why she ran away, Sarah blubbered, then she laughed and said: "Because I wanted to." A guard was placed over that girl that night and Friday. Yesterday Warden Ryan, who says she is a little she-devil, concluded that she had had enough of her pranks, and so escorted her to her uncle's house. Sarah didn't want to go, and when she arrived there her uncle said he had no desire to receive her, but the Warden refused to shelter her. Before the Warden returned to the almshouse Sarah informed him that she would be back in a few days.

The girl has a brother, about twenty-one years old, a laborer on the Erie Railroad, but his wages are so small that he is unable to do anything for his little sister. Her father and mother died two years ago.

CROKER COMING THIS MONTH. Writes to a Friend That Such Is His Intention—Will Take a Hand in Politics.

Richard Croker will be home before the end of the present month. He has so informed a personal friend in a letter received here a few days ago. Mrs. Croker will sail for home some day during the coming week, and she will be followed by her husband just as soon as he can arrange his business affairs in England.

The coming of Croker is eagerly awaited by the Tammany leaders, as he is the only man who can adjust the differences that now exist in the Wilmam. Mr. Croker has been away of Tammany's intention to stand by the Chicago ticket, and, instead of being opposed to it, as has been stated, he approves of it in every respect. He is expected to take an active part in the present campaign.

SENATOR GORMAN'S PART. Belief That He Will Accept Chairmanship of the Democratic Executive Committee.

The call for a meeting of the Democratic National Committee to assemble at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Monday, August 10, is regarded as an indication that Senator Arthur P. Gorman, of Maryland, will be selected to conduct the campaign. I which case the main headquarters will be established here.

Those on the inside of Democratic circles are aware that it is the wish of both the party and the public that the Maryland Senator should be the chairmanship of the Executive committee, which will have immediate charge of the campaign. It is known that Gorman has accepted the call.

The temporary headquarters of the party will be at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Mr. St. John Gaudy is the secretary of the party.

Arizona in Line for Bryan. Springfield, O., August 1.—Banker Phil Cole, ex-Mayor of Phoenix, Ariz., ex-treasurer of the Democratic party, and one of the keenest politicians in the West, is here. He thinks the Democrats are practically for silver and that fully one-half of the voters of Arizona will vote for "Our town of Phoenix." Mr. Cole is in a district where $4,000,000 of gold is produced annually, and he is for silver. It looks to me that the State of the Missouri, in the West, would go for Bryan.

W. BOURKE COCKRAN MUCH SURPRISED.

The Ex-Congressman Returns from Europe, and Says He Is Out of Politics.

Could Hardly Believe in Whitney's Sound Money Democratic Movement.

Anxious to Learn What Action Hill Had Taken in Regard to the Chicago Ticket.

ALMOST COMMITTED HIMSELF.

Thought He Was Against Bryan, but Changed His Mind and Refused to Express an Opinion.

W. Bourke Cockran arrived from England yesterday on the American liner Paris, and the first thing he did was to ask for a newspaper. He was handed a copy of the Journal, and, hastily unfolding it, his eye fell on the headline "Tammany Declares for Bryan and Sewall."

"What is this?" he exclaimed. "Sheehan's resolution indorsing their candidacy is carried by a unanimous vote," reading the second line. "Umph!" and then the man with the silver tongue leaned forward and read the whole story.

"I don't think I have anything to say that will interest anybody," he resumed, after folding the paper up and tucking it away. "Of course you know I am out of politics."

Mr. Cockran folded his arms in front of him, clasped his hands behind and swung his cane between his legs for some time before he renewed the conversation.

"By the way," said he presently, "what else has occurred in politics?"

"There is talk," said a bystander, "of running J. Sterling Morton, Secretary of Agriculture, for President on a gold platform backed by the sound money Democrats."

"Who started it?" Mr. Cockran asked. "Whitney, Carlisle and a few others."

"It sounds funny. It hardly seems possible. At any rate, he can surely be called a sterling gold candidate. The idea goes well with the party, I suppose."

"How does it strike you?" he was asked. "Oh, it is all right for the Democrats, party to do just as it chooses. I am out of politics absolutely, and therefore have no opinions to express."

"Has Hill declared for Bryan?" was Mr. Cockran's next question. "Hill intimates that he will, in all probability, support the regular ticket, although at Chicago, when the nominations were being made, he said he was a Democrat, but not a revolutionist."

Mr. Cockran laughed uproariously at this information, and then returned to the subject of the action of the politicians. He said, "I am so absolutely out of politics that I hardly think I did not leave anything worthy of me. When I say I am out of politics entirely, I mean it. Any views I might have would be in the nature of a suggestion, and it is well for me to keep them to myself."

"It was reported through London dispatches that McKinley and Croker had opposed Bryan. Which of the two candidates are you likely to vote for?"

"I cannot say. I am in sympathy with the McKinley platform."

"Well, I think you might say that. No, I would prefer to say nothing at all. It would be best not to."

"Perhaps you are in sympathy with the McKinley platform."

"That also must be treated in the same way. I do not know just what to say. I have nothing for the press. Perhaps not at all."

Mr. Cockran laughed at all other attempts to draw a copy from him and was equally taciturn to the host of friends who met him at the boat. He seemed to be anxious to avoid any mention of the various subjects that were being talked of, leaving his valet to take care of his baggage.

TAMMANY LEADERS TO ACT. Ratification Meetings to Be Called in the Several Districts—An Injustice to John J. Scannell.

Now that the Executive Committee of Tammany Hall has spoken, several of the district leaders will make arrangements for the holding of ratification meetings in their districts. No date has yet been set for the ratification by the General Committee, but it seems settled that it will not be held until after the meeting of the State Convention.

Tammany as an organization will not, it is said, take any part in the out-of-door proceedings to be held at Madison Square Garden on August 12, although many prominent members of the Wilmam will attend the demonstration as individuals.

This has caused much adverse comment among local supporters of Bryan, as they are of the opinion that Tammany, as the regular Democratic organization in this city, should take part in the reception to the Democratic candidate for the Presidency.

Through a mistake of one of the secretaries, it was announced that John J. Scannell, the Tammany leader in the Twenty-fourth Assembly District, had voted against Sheehan's resolution on Friday. Mr. Scannell supported the resolution, but Andrew J. White, the ex-Mayor of the City, and first Assembly District, voted with Martin, Morgan and Allen in opposition to the ratification programme.

Tammany will send a delegation to the State Convention in favor of an indorsement of the candidates. It is expected that there will be a fight over the platform, but a majority of the Tammany leaders, including John C. Sheehan, favor the acceptance of the platform.
